On December 9th, South-African architect Peter Rich will be giving his lecture "Powering transformation in Africa", where he will talk about his work in Eastern Asia.

As a co-founder of Light Earth Design, Rich works in the design of sustainable solutions with local materials for the development of construction in Rwanda, as well as the design of best practice solutions to accommodate first generation urban dwellers.

Peter Rich is an internationally renowned architect and has received several awards, including the "Building of the Year" at the World Architecture Festival in 2009. In 2010, he was awarded the prestigious Honorary Fellowship of the American Institute of Architects and The South African Institute of Architects Gold Medal.
